

COMPANY OVERVIEW

M. Davis & Sons, Inc. is a fifth generation, woman-owned industrial construction company that builds, installs and maintains corporate plants and facilities for national and international companies. Founded in 1870 and based in Wilmington, Del., M. Davis serves customers in the oil and gas, chemical, pharmaceutical, food, beverage and industrial markets.

M. Davis & Sons is a full service mechanical and electrical contractor offering custom solutions broken into four distinct areas:

- Mechanical services, which include the installation of process equipment, pipefitting, certified welding, rigging and boiler maintenance.
- Electrical services, including total electrical upgrades, troubleshooting, motor control centers and installations in hazardous environments;
- Fabrication Shops, three separate full-service shops
 - Tyler Way: fabrication shop for the design and fabrication of process skids;
 - Hadco Road fabrication shop for ASME code vessels, structural steel and sheet metal products
 - B&O Lane fabrication shop devoted to non-ferrous metals fabrication.
- Controls and Automation, offering system integration with complete concept to design capabilities, PLC/HMI programming, SCADA and wireless communications, and the fabrication of UL listed control panels.

In continuous operation for more than 145 years, M. Davis & Sons began as a tiny tinsmith shop and today maintains facilities for Fortune 500 companies and government agencies.

M. Davis manages to high ethical standards and is committed to the principles of sustainable performance and corporate social responsibility. It has established a formal supplier diversity program to support healthy competition and a level playing field for all potential and exiting suppliers. Additionally, many of its employees volunteer their personal time and donate funds to make their communities better places to live and work.
